- RAINBOW LIGHT: A row of small, white, cylindrical bottles.
- FAMINS: A row of small, white, cylindrical bottles.
- MULTI-VITAMINS: A row of small, white, cylindrical bottles.
- PROSTATE HEALTH: A row of small, white, cylindrical bottles.
- JOINT HEALTH: A row of small, white, cylindrical bottles.
- GREEN FOODS: A row of small, white, cylindrical bottles.
- CHOLRELLA: A row of small, white, cylindrical bottles.
- ALGAE: A row of small, white, cylindrical bottles.
- SPIRULINA: A row of small, white, cylindrical bottles.

Below these sections, there are more rows of products, including a row of large, white, cylindrical bottles labeled PROTEIN and a row of small, white, cylindrical bottles labeled JOINT HEALTH. The products are arranged in neat rows, and the shelves are well-lit.
